

SUSTAINABILITY COMMITTEE

Its aim is to guarantee that the University's fundamental teaching and learning, research, governance, and operational activities are all infused with sustainability ideas and practices.

Through the Chair, the Sustainability Committee provides the Chairman and vice chairman with an update on the University's sustainability performance. The Committee also offers suggestions about partnerships, policies, planning, and commitments pertaining to sustainability. It is also in charge of monitoring the University's adherence to the Sustainable Development Goals of the UN.

Responsibilities of the Committee

- Inform Chairman and Vice chairman of the University's sustainability performance status, including compliance with external commitments and duties.
- Examine and advise Chairman and Vice chairman on the creation of sustainability-related pledges, guidelines, and plans, including the setting of performance goals for the entire university.
- Oversee the University's responsibilities and reporting requirements to stakeholders and outside organizations.
- Maintaining institutional, social, and environmental thresholds, controlling risk exposures, and facilitating thoughtful, open, and risk-aware decision-making are all ways to foster a robust risk culture.
- Encourage the creation of sustainable engagement and communication initiatives to foster awareness and encourage action among university personnel and students.
- Oversee how sustainability is incorporated into the University's research, teaching, and learning initiatives and encourage cooperation between various departments and roles.
- Encourage Marwadi University students to engage in sustainability-related projects and activities.
- Integrate sustainable practices into the operations and governance of the university.
